Upgrade to Night Vision

APACHE has conducted night vision lighting modifications to more aircraft than any other manufacturer in the industry.

Read more about these modifications at our website www.apache-enterprises.com

A-10 NVIS Modification Program

This program was the production phase of a project to perform the 100% NVIS modification of the interior and exterior lights for the A-10.

CH-53 NVIS Modification

The program required the NVIS modification of 100% of the lighting devices found on both the CH-53D and CH-53E.

U.S. Navy C-130 NVL Program

Apache designed and manufactured the NVIS hardware required to modify Navy C-130s.

CH-46 Com/Nav (CNCS) Upgrade

Apache manufactured over 100 kits involving 62 part numbers in each kit.

U.S. Air Force C-130 Avionics Modernization Program

Apache is now under contract to Boeing Aircraft to provide the interior NVIS lighting hardware for the C-130 AMP program.

UH-1N Global Position System (GPS)

Apache was awarded a contract to manufacture 140 GPS installation kits for US Navy UH-1Ns.

In addition to night vision lighting, Apache designs and manufactures over 17,000 different parts, many proprietary. Its diverse manufacturing capability has allowed the company to become a "one-stop-shop" for aircraft modification customers. Turnkey modification kits can include "black boxes", cables, sheet metal parts, machined parts, electro-mechanical assemblies and miscellaneous hardware.
